

Answer Key

Grammar

Verbs of liking/disliking (enjoy, love, hate, can't stand) + -ing

After enjoy, love, hate, and can't stand, we use the -ing form of the verb (the gerund), not the infinitive.

Enjoy, love, hate ve can't stand fiillerinden sonra fiilin -ing hâli (gerund) kullanılır, to'lu mastar kullanılmaz.

When? We use these verbs to talk about general feelings and interests, especially when describing hobbies and free-time activities.

Bu fiiller, özellikle hobiler ve boş zaman etkinlikleri anlatılırken genel duygu ve ilgi alanlarını ifade etmek için kullanılır.

Positive

- I enjoy painting.
- She loves collecting stamps.

Negative

- I don't enjoy painting.
- She doesn't love collecting stamps.

Question

- Do you enjoy painting?
- Does she love collecting stamps?

Short answers

- Yes, I do. / No, I don't.
- Yes, she does. / No, she doesn't.

Common mistakes

- ~~I enjoy to paint.~~ → I enjoy painting.
- ~~She hate play chess.~~ → She hates playing chess.

1. I really _____ (collect) old comic books.

- a. enjoy collect
- b. enjoy collecting ✓
- c. enjoy to collect
- d. enjoy collects

Enjoy is followed by the -ing form.

2. My cousin loves _____ (paint) portraits of her friends. (painting)

Love + -ing form.

3. Which sentence is correct?

- a. He hates to lose at cards.
- b. He hates losing at cards. ✓

Love + -ing form, regardless of skill level.

9. Rewrite as a negative sentence: My friends enjoy playing chess. (My friends...) My friends don't enjoy playing chess.

10. Choose the sentence with correct word order and form.

- a. Really I enjoy collecting stamps.
- b. I really enjoy collecting stamps. ✓
- c. I enjoy really collecting stamps.
- d. I enjoy collecting really stamps.

Adverbs like 'really' usually go before the verb they modify.

Adjective + preposition (fond of, keen on, interested in, crazy about)

These adjectives are followed by a fixed preposition (of, on, in, about), and the verb after the preposition takes the -ing form.

Bu sıfatlardan sonra sabit bir edat (of, on, in, about) gelir ve edattan sonraki fiil -ing hâlini alır.

When? We use these expressions to talk about our interests and enthusiasms, often more strongly than simple 'like'.

Bu ifadeler, genellikle basit 'like'dan daha güçlü bir şekilde ilgi ve heveslerimizi anlatmak için kullanılır.

Positive

- I'm fond of painting.
- She's keen on cycling.

Negative

- I'm not fond of painting.

- c. They're fond in hiking.
- d. They're fond on hiking.

Fond is always followed by 'of'.

Can / could (ability, present and past)

We use can + base verb for present ability and could + base verb for past ability. Both are modal verbs and never take -s or 'to'.

Şimdiki zamandaki yetenek için can + fiilin yalın hâli, geçmişteki yetenek için could + fiilin yalın hâli kullanılır. İkisi de yardımcı fiildir ve -s ya da 'to' almaz.

When? We use can/could to talk about general abilities and skills, not about a single completed action in the past.

The Weekend Woodcarver

Before you read

- Look at the title. What do you think this person does at weekends?
- Do you know anyone who is skilled at a craft hobby?

Ahmet works as an accountant during the week, but every Saturday morning he becomes a completely different person. He puts on an old apron, opens his small garden shed, and picks up a piece of wood and a set of carving tools. Ahmet is passionate about woodcarving, and he has been practising this hobby for almost six years.

It all started when his grandfather gave him a small wooden bird he had carved himself. Ahmet was fascinated and decided he wanted to learn the same skill. At first, he was a complete novice and found the work slow and difficult. He couldn't even carve a simple spoon without cutting his fingers. However, he was fond of the quiet, careful process, and he refused to give up.

Ahmet joined a local craft club, where more experienced members were happy to share tips with beginners. He practised for at least two hours every weekend, and slowly his skills improved. Now he can carve detailed animal figures, small boxes, and even simple furniture. His favourite pieces are wooden birds, just like the one his grandfather gave him.

Ahmet says that woodcarving helps him relax after a stressful week at work. "I enjoy focusing on one small task and seeing something beautiful appear from a plain piece of wood," he explains. He is now keen on entering his work in a regional craft competition next spring, something he could never have imagined doing when he first picked up a carving knife.

1. What is Ahmet's job?

- ☐ a. Woodcarver
- ☒ b. Accountant ✓
- ☐ c. Craft teacher
- ☐ d. Shed builder

The text says he works as an accountant during the week.

2. Ahmet's grandfather gave him a small wooden _____. (bird)

The text states his grandfather gave him a carved wooden bird.

3. Ahmet found woodcarving easy from the very beginning. — True / False (Incorrect — Ahmet found it slow and difficult at first, and he was a complete novice.)

4. How does Ahmet feel about woodcarving now?

- ☐ a. Bored by it
- ☒ b. Passionate about it ✓
- ☐ c. Confused by it
- ☐ d. Annoyed by it

The text says he is passionate about woodcarving.

5. Ahmet is planning to enter a regional craft _____ next spring. (competition)

The final paragraph mentions the regional craft competition.

6. What can we infer about Ahmet's attitude towards learning new skills?

- a. He gives up easily.
- b. He is patient and determined. ✓
- c. He prefers to learn alone.
- d. He only likes fast results.

Despite early difficulty, he kept practising and joined a club, showing patience and determination.

After you read

- Would you like to try woodcarving? Why or why not?
- What hobby have you learned slowly, like Ahmet learned woodcarving?

Twins, Different Talents

Before you read

- Do you know any twins? Do they usually have the same interests?
- Guess: what different hobbies might two twin sisters have?

Elif and Deniz are twin sisters, but their hobbies could hardly be more different. Elif is crazy about rock climbing. Every weekend, she travels to a climbing centre outside the city, where she can now climb walls that would have seemed impossible to her two years ago. As a child, she couldn't even climb the small tree in their garden without help, so her family is amazed at how far she has come.

Deniz, on the other hand, is interested in something much quieter: chess. She loves sitting for hours studying old games and planning her next move. She joined the school chess club in Year 9 and quickly became one of its strongest players. Unlike her sister, Deniz has always preferred activities that let her think carefully rather than move quickly.

Their parents say that the girls have always had opposite personalities, even though they look almost identical. Elif enjoys taking risks and testing her body's limits, while Deniz prefers solving problems calmly in her mind. Interestingly, both girls agree on one thing: they can't stand giving up on a challenge, whether it's a difficult climbing route or a tricky chess puzzle.

Last month, the twins decided to try something new together: a beginner's pottery class. Neither of them had any experience, and at first their bowls looked more like flat plates. However, after a few lessons, both sisters could shape a simple, even bowl, and they agreed it was fun to be complete beginners together for once.

1. What hobby is Elif crazy about?

- a. Chess
- b. Rock climbing ✓
- c. Pottery
- d. Woodcarving

The text states Elif is crazy about rock climbing.

2. Deniz joined the school _____ club in Year 9. (chess)

The text says Deniz joined the school chess club.

3. As a child, Elif could easily climb trees. — True / False (Incorrect — As a child, Elif couldn't climb the small tree in their garden without help.)

- a. They both prefer quiet activities.
- b. They both can't stand giving up on a challenge. ✓
- c. They both dislike trying new things.
- d. They both started rock climbing together.

The text says both girls agree they can't stand giving up on a challenge.

5. The twins tried a beginner's _____ class together last month. (pottery)

The final paragraph describes the pottery class.

6. What can we infer about how the sisters felt during the pottery class?

- a. Embarrassed and unwilling to continue
- b. Amused and encouraged by improving together ✓
- c. Angry that their bowls were not perfect
- d. Uninterested in the activity

The text describes them laughing at their first attempts and being pleased they both improved, suggesting amusement and encouragement.

After you read

- Do you think it's more common for siblings to share hobbies or have different ones? Why?
- Which of the two sisters' hobbies would you rather try, and why?

Mert So, the community centre is offering some new weekend courses. Are you interested in signing up for one?

Aslı Definitely. I've always been keen on trying pottery, but I've never had the chance before.

Mert Really? I didn't know you liked pottery. I thought you were more into music.

Aslı I am, but I can't play any instrument well, and honestly, I hate practising scales! Pottery seems more relaxing.

Mert That makes sense. What about me? I can't decide between the photography course and the rock climbing course.

Aslı Well, which one are you more passionate about?

Mert I think photography, actually. I'm fascinated by how a good photo can tell a whole story.

Aslı Then choose photography! You can always try climbing another time.

Mert You're right. I'll sign up for the photography course, and you can sign up for pottery. We can share what we learn.

- d. He taught a chess class.

The transcript says he won third place in a seniors' chess tournament.

Transcript (teacher use)

Zeynep I want to tell you about my grandfather, who is eighty-two years old and still crazy about chess. He learned to play when he was only seven, and he could beat most adults in our neighbourhood by the time he was twelve. Everyone was amazed at how skilled he was.

Zeynep When I was little, he taught me the rules, but I couldn't understand the strategy at all at first. I found it boring, to be honest, and I much preferred drawing or playing outside. However, my grandfather was very patient, and slowly I became more interested in the game.

Zeynep Now we play together every Sunday afternoon. I still can't beat him very often — maybe once every ten games — but I really enjoy our matches. He says that chess isn't just about winning; it's about thinking carefully and never giving up.

Zeynep Last year, he entered a seniors' chess tournament for the first time in decades, and he actually won third place! My whole family was so proud of him. He's already keen on entering again next year.
