

Lesson Plans

Lesson 1 · Opening Up: Theme Introduction (40 min)

Target language: regret, confide, open up, bottle up

Materials: Board, Vocabulary handout, Projector (optional)

1. 5 min Warm-up: ask students if it's easy or hard to talk about feelings, and why. (T-S)
2. 10 min Introduce theme vocabulary (regret, confide, open up, bottle up) with example sentences. (T-S)
3. 10 min Students match new words to Turkish meanings in pairs. (pairs)
4. 10 min Short listening: play/read a few lines about someone opening up; students note key vocabulary they hear. (individual)
5. 5 min Whole-class feedback and preview of the theme's grammar focus. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher monitors vocabulary matching accuracy.

Support: Provide a word bank with Turkish translations already filled in for two items.

Core: Students match all 6 words independently.

Extension: Ask fast finishers to write one original sentence per word.

Homework: Learn the 6 new words for a quick quiz next lesson.

Lesson 2 · Vocabulary in Context: Feelings and Relationships (40 min)

Target language: resentment, sympathetic, considerate, thoughtless

Materials: Vocabulary cards, Worksheet

1. 5 min Quick recall quiz on last lesson's vocabulary. (individual)
2. 10 min Present new vocabulary set with example sentences and collocations. (T-S)
3. 10 min Mingling activity: students find classmates whose card matches their definition. (pairs)
4. 10 min Students read a very short original text and identify vocabulary in context. (individual)
5. 5 min Wrap-up: class shares favourite new word and why. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher checks worksheet answers during class.

Support: Give slower students matching cards with fewer distractors.

Core: Students complete the mingling activity and worksheet independently.

Extension: Ask stronger students to write a two-sentence mini-story using 3 new words.

Homework: Write 3 original sentences using 3 new words from today.

Lesson 3 · Should Have / Shouldn't Have — Noticing the Pattern (40 min)

Target language: should have, shouldn't have

Materials: Board, Grammar handout

1. 5 min Warm-up: ask students about a decision they regret (light, general example). (T-S)
2. 10 min Present notice sentences with should have / shouldn't have; ask noticing question. (T-S)
3. 10 min Explain rule bilingually (English + Turkish) and go over form (positive/negative/question). (T-S)
4. 10 min Complete-the-gap practice in pairs using the discover 'complete' activity. (pairs)
5. 5 min Check answers as a class; address common mistakes. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher monitors pair work and checks gap-fill answers.

Support: Provide the answer bank visibly for reference during the gap-fill.

Core: Students complete the gap-fill with at least 80% accuracy.

Extension: Ask fast finishers to create one extra should have / shouldn't have sentence.

Homework: Complete practice items 1-3 from Grammar g1.

Lesson 4 · Should Have / Could Have — Building Sentences (40 min)

Target language: should have, could have

Materials: Board, Cue cards

1. 5 min Quick review: elicit 2-3 should have sentences from students. (T-S)
2. 10 min Model building full sentences from cues (build activity example). (T-S)
3. 10 min Pairs build sentences from remaining cues. (pairs)
4. 10 min Speaking mini-task: students share one real should have / could have sentence about their own life. (pairs)
5. 5 min Class feedback and correction of common errors. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher listens during pair speaking and notes errors for feedback.

Support: Give slower pairs a sentence starter for the speaking task.

Core: Students build all cue sentences correctly.

Extension: Ask stronger pairs to add a follow-up 'because' clause to each sentence.

Homework: Write 3 original should have / could have sentences about a personal experience (Writing w1 preparation).

Lesson 5 · Reading: The Letter I Never Sent (40 min)

Target language: should have, could have, shouldn't have (in context)

Materials: Reading text (teacher copy), Question handout

1. 5 min Pre-reading discussion questions. (T-S)
2. 15 min Students read 'The Letter I Never Sent' individually, underlining should have / could have examples. (individual)
3. 10 min Answer comprehension questions in pairs. (pairs)
4. 5 min Check answers as a class. (T-S)
5. 5 min Post-reading discussion questions. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher checks comprehension question answers.

Support: Pre-teach 2-3 difficult words before reading for weaker students.

Core: Students answer at least 4 of 6 comprehension questions correctly.

Extension: Ask stronger students to summarise the story in 3 sentences using should have.

Homework: Answer the two post-reading discussion questions in writing (3-4 sentences each).

Lesson 6 · Might Have / Must Have / Couldn't Have — Noticing the Pattern (40 min)

Target language: might have, must have, couldn't have

Materials: Board, Grammar handout

1. 5 min Warm-up: show a simple mystery clue (e.g. wet umbrella by the door) and elicit guesses. (T-S)
2. 10 min Present notice sentences for might have / must have / couldn't have; ask noticing question. (T-S)
3. 10 min Explain rule bilingually and go over the certainty scale (couldn't → might → must). (T-S)
4. 10 min Complete-the-gap practice in pairs. (pairs)
5. 5 min Check answers; highlight the compare table (must vs might). (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher monitors pair answers to gap-fill.

Support: Provide the certainty scale visually (couldn't - might - must) as a reference.

Core: Students complete the gap-fill with at least 80% accuracy.

Extension: Ask fast finishers to rank three guesses about a scenario from least to most certain.

Homework: Complete practice items 1-3 from Grammar g2.

Lesson 7 · Detectives of the Past: Speaking Practice (40 min)

Target language: might have, must have, couldn't have

Materials: Mystery situation cards

1. 5 min Review might have / must have / couldn't have with a quick oral drill. (T-S)
2. 5 min Explain the speaking task (Detectives of the Past, s1) and useful language. (T-S)
3. 15 min Groups discuss their mystery situation and agree on explanations. (groups)
4. 10 min Groups present their reasoning to the class. (T-S)
5. 5 min Class votes on the most convincing explanation for each mystery. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher assesses group presentations for correct use of modal perfects.

Support: Give a sentence frame card to groups that need more structure.

Core: Groups produce at least 3 modal perfect sentences with clear reasoning.

Extension: Challenge stronger groups to counter another group's theory using couldn't have.

Homework: Write 3 sentences guessing what happened in a mystery of your own choice (Writing w2 preparation).

Lesson 8 · Listening: A Difficult Conversation (40 min)

Target language: should have, shouldn't have, might have, must have (reduced forms)

Materials: Listening transcript (teacher copy), Question handout

1. 5 min Pre-listening prediction discussion. (T-S)
2. 10 min First listen: students get the general gist and answer 1-2 broad questions. (individual)
3. 10 min Second listen: students answer detailed comprehension questions. (individual)
4. 10 min Pronunciation focus: practise reduced forms (should've, could've, must've) with choral and individual repetition. (T-S)
5. 5 min Post-listening discussion questions. (pairs)

Assessment: Teacher checks comprehension answers and monitors pronunciation practice.

Support: Provide the transcript for weaker students to follow while listening.

Core: Students answer at least 3 of 4 comprehension questions correctly.

Extension: Ask stronger students to role-play a short extension of the dialogue.

Homework: Practise saying 5 should've/could've/must've sentences aloud at home.

Lesson 9 • Reading & Listening Review: Who Forgot the Cake? / The Empty Classroom (40 min)

Target language: might have, must have, couldn't have (mixed review)

Materials: Reading text r2, Listening transcript l2

1. 10 min Students read 'Who Forgot the Cake?' individually and answer comprehension questions. (individual)
2. 10 min Class listens to/reads 'The Empty Classroom' and answers comprehension questions. (individual)
3. 10 min Pair discussion: compare how certainty is expressed differently in the two texts. (pairs)
4. 5 min Whole-class check of answers. (T-S)
5. 5 min Wrap-up discussion questions from 'after'/'post' sections. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher checks written answers for both texts.

Support: Allow weaker students to work in pairs for the reading questions.

Core: Students answer at least 4 of 5 questions per text correctly.

Extension: Ask stronger students to write one additional must have sentence about each text.

Homework: Review vocabulary and grammar notes in preparation for the writing lesson.

Lesson 10 • Writing Workshop: Regret and Speculation (40 min)

Target language: should have, could have, might have, must have, couldn't have

Materials: Writing task handouts w1 and w2, Checklist

1. 5 min Review key structures and useful vocabulary for writing. (T-S)
2. 5 min Students choose one writing task (w1 or w2) and plan using the given planning steps. (individual)
3. 20 min Students write their first draft. (individual)
4. 5 min Peer check: partners review each other's draft using the checklist. (pairs)
5. 5 min Students revise their draft based on feedback. (individual)

Assessment: Teacher collects drafts and gives written feedback using the checklist.

Support: Provide sentence starters and the vocabulary/structure lists directly on the desk.

Core: Students produce a complete draft meeting the word count and using at least 3 target structures.

Extension: Ask stronger students to add a second paragraph exploring an alternative outcome.

Homework: Finalise and complete the writing task for submission next lesson.

Lesson 11 · Theme Review and Assessment (40 min)

Target language: should have, could have, might have, must have, couldn't have (full review)

Materials: Review questions, Test sections, Rubrics

1. 5 min Warm-up: quick oral review of the theme's key structures. (T-S)
2. 10 min Students complete a mixed review set individually (review items). (individual)
3. 15 min Students complete the theme test sections (vocabulary, grammar, reading, listening, speaking, writing). (individual)
4. 5 min Quick peer discussion: compare answers in pairs and self-correct where possible. (pairs)
5. 5 min Whole-class wrap-up: recap the theme's main learning points and preview homework. (T-S)

Assessment: Teacher marks the test using the rubrics; review answers checked in class.

Support: Allow weaker students extra time or a shortened test section.

Core: Students complete all test sections with reasonable accuracy.

Extension: Ask stronger students to write one extra original sentence per grammar point as a bonus.

Homework: Complete the extension homework tasks for further practice.
