S1 Life in 100 Years

In pairs, discuss what you think everyday life will be like in 100 years. Talk about at least three areas (home, transport, work, food, or health), using the Future Perfect, Future Continuous and future expressions (be likely to, be bound to, be set to) where natural.

S2 Let's Negotiate

In pairs, role-play a short negotiation. Student A proposes a plan for the future (e.g. how your class should prepare for exams, or a change to your school). Student B should not agree immediately — negotiate a compromise using phrases for accepting, turning down and adjusting a proposal.

W1 Life in the Future: An Essay

Plan and write an essay giving your opinion on what life will be like in 50 to 100 years. Draw a simple outline first (introduction, two developing paragraphs, conclusion), and use at least two linkers of addition (furthermore, in addition, moreover) and two linkers of contrast (however, on the other hand, although).

[illegible]

CHECKLIST

- ☐ Clear introduction stating your overall opinion
- ☐ Outline drawn before writing (intro / body / conclusion)
- ☐ At least 2 linkers of addition and 2 of contrast
- ☐ Uses Future Perfect, Future Continuous or a future expression at least twice
- ☐ 180–220 words

W2 Negotiating by Email

Your class has been offered two different options for a future school trip, but you and your classmates disagree about which one to choose. Write a semi-formal email to your teacher proposing a compromise, explaining what each side wants and suggesting a fair solution.

CHECKLIST

- ☐ Clear opening explaining the situation
- ☐ Describes both sides of the disagreement fairly
- ☐ Proposes a specific, realistic compromise
- ☐ Polite, semi-formal tone throughout
- ☐ 120–150 words
