GRAMMAR

Simple Past vs Past Progressive

Notice

Last month I caught a bad cold and stayed in bed for three days.

I was feeling really anxious when the phone rang with my exam results.

While Selin was jogging in the park, she twisted her ankle.

At 8 p.m. yesterday, I was doing a breathing exercise to calm down after a stressful day.

Which actions were short and complete? Which action was already in progress when something else happened? Where do 'while' and 'when' usually go?

Complete the rule

Look at the Notice sentences again. Complete the rule with the words in the box.

was/were + -ing

verb + -ed / irregular form

in progress at a specific past time

interrupted an action in progress

Complete the rule

For a completed action in the past, we use the Simple Past:

_____ •

✓ verb + -ed / irregular form

Complete the rule

For an action that was _____ in the past, we use the Past Progressive: _____.

✓ in progress at a specific past time / was/were + -ing

Complete the rule

A short action in the Simple Past often _____ a longer action in the Past Progressive (with 'while' or 'when').

✓ interrupted an action in progress

The rule

The Simple Past describes a completed, often short action in the past (verb + -ed or an irregular form). The Past Progressive (was/were + -ing) describes an action that was in progress at a specific past moment. 'While' usually introduces the Past Progressive, 'when' usually introduces the Simple Past; the two combine when a shorter action interrupts a longer one.

TR Simple Past, geçmişte tamamlanmış, kısa süreli eylemleri anlatır (fiil + -ed ya da düzensiz fiil). Past Progressive (was/were + -ing) ise geçmişte belirli bir anda devam etmekte olan bir eylemi anlatır. 'While' genellikle Past Progressive ile, 'when' ise genellikle Simple Past ile kullanılır; uzun eylem yarıda kesildiğinde bu iki zaman birlikte kullanılır.

When? We use these tenses to describe a past illness, accident or stressful moment, and to show that one action was happening when another one occurred.

TR Geçmişte yaşadığımız bir hastalık, kaza ya da stresli bir anı anlatırken; bir eylem devam ederken başka bir şeyin olduğunu belirtirken bu zamanları kullanırız.

GRAMMAR

Talking About the Past: could (ability), used to, would

Notice

As a child, I could run for hours without getting tired.

I used to eat a lot of junk food, but now I try to eat more vegetables.

Every summer, my grandmother would take a long walk before breakfast.

We didn't use to worry so much about screen time when we were younger.

Which word talks about a past ability? Which two describe repeated past habits? Which one is NOT normally used for past states like 'live' or 'have'?

Complete the rule

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

a past ability

repeated actions only, not states

past habits and states that are now different

Complete the rule

'Could' + base verb describes _____ (a general skill in the past).

✓ a past ability

Complete the rule

'Used to' + base verb describes _____ , contrasted with the present.

✓ past habits and states that are now different

Complete the rule

'Would' + base verb also describes past habits, but it is used for
_____ .

✓ repeated actions only, not states

The rule

'Could' describes a general past ability (negative: couldn't). 'Used to' + base verb describes past habits AND states (live, have, like) that are no longer true. 'Would' also describes repeated past habits/actions, but it is NOT used with state verbs like live, have or like.

TR 'Could' geçmişteki genel bir yeteneği anlatır (olumsuzu: couldn't). 'Used to' + fiil, geçmişte düzenli olan ama artık geçerli olmayan alışkanlıkları VE durumları (yaşamak, sahip olmak gibi) anlatır. 'Would' da tekrar eden geçmiş alışkanlıkları anlatır, ancak durum bildiren fiillerle (live, have, like) KULLANILMAZ.

When? We use these forms to describe past abilities, habits and states that have changed, especially when comparing old and new habits related to health and well-being.

TR Geçmişteki yeteneklerimizi, alışkanlıklarımızı ve şimdi farklı olan durumlarımızı anlatırken; sağlık, spor ya da yeme alışkanlıklarındaki değişimi karşılaştırırken bu yapıları kullanırız.

GRAMMAR

Wh- Questions: How long...? and other question words

Notice

How long have you had that cough?

Why did you feel so anxious before the presentation?

How often do you check your phone during the day?

What helped you recover from the stress of exam season?

What information does each question word ask for — duration, reason, frequency or a thing/action?

What comes right after the question word?

Complete the rule

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

duration (length of time)

reason

frequency

auxiliary + subject + base verb

Complete the rule

'How long' asks about _____ .

✓ duration (length of time)

Complete the rule

'Why' asks about the _____ for something.

✓ reason

Complete the rule

'How often' asks about _____.

✓ frequency

Complete the rule

After the wh- word, a question usually follows this word order:

_____ •

✓ auxiliary + subject + base verb

The rule

Wh- question words (what, why, how long, how often, etc.) ask for specific information and normally come first in the question, followed by auxiliary + subject + base verb. 'How long' asks about duration, 'how often' about frequency, and 'why' about reason.

TR Wh- soru kelimeleri (what, why, how long, how often, what helped vb.) belirli bir bilgi istemek için kullanılır ve genellikle cümlelerin başına gelir; ardından yardımcı fiil + özne + yalın fiil sırası izlenir. 'How long' süre, 'how often' sıklık, 'why' sebep sorar.

When? We use wh- questions to get detailed information about health, feelings and habits — for example, to ask how long a symptom has lasted or why someone feels stressed.

TR Sağlık, duygular ve alışkanlıklar hakkında ayrıntılı bilgi almak istediğimizde wh- sorularını kullanırız — örneğin bir semptomun ne kadar sürdüğünü ya da neden stresli hissettiğimizi sormak için.

Build sentences · Example

Answer: I've had this headache for two days.

How long have you had this headache?

Build sentences

Answer: I felt stressed because I had three tests in one day.

Why did you feel stressed?

Build sentences

Question Tags (Simple Past, Past Progressive, used to)

Notice

You didn't sleep well last night, did you?

She used to play a lot of sport, didn't she?

You were feeling stressed before the test, weren't you?

We couldn't finish the relaxation exercise in time, could we?

When the main sentence is negative, is the tag positive or negative? What auxiliary verb does each tag repeat?

Complete the rule

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

negative

positive

same auxiliary/modal as the main verb

Complete the rule

A positive sentence takes a _____ tag.

✓ negative

Complete the rule

A negative sentence takes a _____ tag.

✓ positive

Complete the rule

The tag always uses the _____ (did/didn't, was/wasn't, could/couldn't...).

✓ same auxiliary/modal as the main verb

The rule

Question tags with past tenses follow the same golden rule: a positive sentence takes a negative tag, a negative sentence takes a positive tag, and the tag repeats the same auxiliary or modal as the main sentence (did/didn't, was/wasn't, could/couldn't; 'used to' takes did/didn't).

TR Geçmiş zamanlarla kullanılan question tag'ler de aynı altın kurala uyar: olumlu cümleye olumsuz, olumsuz cümleye olumlu bir tag eklenir; tag ana cümledeki yardımcı fiil/modal ile aynı olur (did/didn't, was/wasn't, could/couldn't, used to → didn't).

When? We use these tags to check or confirm information about a past situation or habit, especially when talking about health and feelings.

TR Geçmişte yaşanan bir durumu ya da alışkanlığı teyit etmek istediğimizde, özellikle sağlık ve duygu durumu hakkında sohbet ederken bu tag'leri kullanırız.

GRAMMAR

Prepositions and Prepositional Phrases

Notice

I've had this cough for three days and it started after the school trip.

She's really good at dealing with stress.

Talking about your feelings can help you cope with anxiety.

He went to the doctor's because of a persistent headache.

Which prepositions go with time (for, after)? Which prepositions are 'fixed' after certain words (good at, cope with, talk about)? What comes after 'because of'?

Complete the rule

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

a noun or -ing form

a duration of time

fixed expressions with adjectives/verbs

Complete the rule

'For' + a number/period expresses _____ .

✓ a duration of time

Complete the rule

Expressions like 'good at', 'cope with' and 'talk about' are _____ — the preposition doesn't change.

✓ fixed expressions with adjectives/verbs

Complete the rule

'Because of' is followed by _____ , not a full clause.

✓ a noun or -ing form

The rule

Prepositions form fixed expressions of time (for + duration, since + starting point), reason (because of + noun/-ing) and with certain verbs/adjectives (good at, cope with, deal with, talk to/about). These patterns need to be learned individually, since they often don't match Turkish word-for-word.

TR Edatlar (preposition) zaman (for + süre, since + başlangıç noktası), sebep (because of + isim/-ing) ve belirli fiil/sıfatlarla sabit kalıplar (good at, cope with, deal with, talk to/about) oluşturur. Bu kalıplar ezberlenmelidir çünkü çoğu zaman Türkçedeki karşılıklarıyla birebir örtüşmez.

When? We need the correct prepositions when describing how long a health or emotional state has lasted, its cause, or how someone deals with it.

TR Bir sağlık ya da duygu durumunun ne kadar sürdüğünü, sebebini ya da onunla nasıl başa çıkıldığını anlatırken doğru edatları kullanmamız gerekir.

Finding Balance: A Student's Story

Before you read

1. Look at the title. What do you think "finding balance" means for a student?
2. Have you ever felt exhausted from doing too many things at once? What happened?

FINDING BALANCE: A STUDENT'S STORY · 1 / 4

Last year, seventeen-year-old Deniz used to think that being busy meant being successful. Between classes, football practice, and a part-time weekend job, he barely had time to sleep, let alone see his friends. He used to skip breakfast most mornings and would often stay up past midnight finishing homework, telling himself that he could rest "later."

FINDING BALANCE: A STUDENT'S STORY · 2 / 4

Then, one Tuesday in November, everything caught up with him. While he was sitting in a maths lesson, Deniz suddenly felt dizzy and exhausted, and he couldn't concentrate on anything the teacher was saying. He went to see the school counsellor, who explained that his body and mind were showing clear signs of burnout — a state that happens when stress builds up for too long without enough rest, food, or social contact.

FINDING BALANCE: A STUDENT'S STORY · 3 / 4

With the counsellor's help, Deniz slowly started to rebuild a more balanced routine. He began going to bed thirty minutes earlier, ate a proper breakfast, and — most importantly — made time each week to see his friends without talking about school at all. He also learned a short mindfulness exercise to do whenever he felt anxious before a test.

FINDING BALANCE: A STUDENT'S STORY · 4 / 4

Six months later, Deniz still works hard, but he no longer believes that exhaustion is a sign of success. "I used to think rest was a waste of time," he says, "but now I know that looking after my physical, mental and social health is what actually helps me perform better — in football, in exams, and just in everyday life."

While you read

What is the main idea of the text?

a Deniz stopped playing football because of stress.

b Deniz learned that balancing physical, mental and social health matters more than staying constantly busy.

c The school counsellor told Deniz to stop studying completely.

While you read

Deniz's counsellor explained that his symptoms were signs of

_____ •

✓ burnout

While you read

Which of these was NOT part of Deniz's new routine?

a Going to bed earlier

b Eating a proper breakfast

c Quitting football completely

While you read

Deniz felt dizzy while he was doing his weekend job.

a Correct

b Incorrect

✓ Deniz felt dizzy while he was sitting in a maths lesson.

While you read

Deniz learned a short _____ exercise to use whenever he felt anxious before a test.

✓ mindfulness

After you read

1. Do you agree with Deniz that being busy doesn't always mean being successful? Why or why not?
2. Write one sentence describing a habit you used to have that you have now changed.

The Hidden Link Between Sleep, Stress and Social Life

Before you read

1. What do you think the connection is between sleep and getting ill?
2. Do you think talking to friends can actually reduce stress? Why or why not?

THE HIDDEN LINK BETWEEN SLEEP, STRESS AND SOCIAL LIFE · 1 / 4

Most teenagers know that sleep matters, but few realise how closely it is connected to both mental health and the immune system. When you don't get enough sleep, your body produces more of the stress hormone cortisol, which can make you feel more anxious and less able to concentrate. At the same time, a tired immune system finds it harder to fight off common illnesses, so poor sleepers often catch more colds during exam periods.

THE HIDDEN LINK BETWEEN SLEEP, STRESS AND SOCIAL LIFE · 2 / 4

Chronic stress — stress that continues for weeks or months rather than a single stressful day — has a similar double effect. It doesn't just affect how we feel emotionally; research shows it can also weaken the immune system and even affect digestion and heart rate over time. This is why doctors increasingly describe physical and mental health as two sides of the same coin rather than separate issues.

THE HIDDEN LINK BETWEEN SLEEP, STRESS AND SOCIAL LIFE · 3 / 4

Social health plays a surprisingly powerful role here too. Studies of students have found that those with strong social support — close friends, family, or a supportive club or team — tend to cope with stress far more effectively than those who feel isolated. Simply talking to someone about a problem, rather than facing it alone, appears to lower stress levels almost immediately.

THE HIDDEN LINK BETWEEN SLEEP, STRESS AND SOCIAL LIFE · 4 / 4

The good news is that small changes can make a real difference. Experts recommend a consistent sleep schedule, at least one proper conversation a day with someone you trust, and short breaks for physical movement between long study sessions. None of these require expensive equipment or hours of free time — just a little planning and, perhaps, a change of mindset about what "looking after yourself" really means.

SPEAKING

How My Habits Have Changed

In pairs, talk about a habit related to your physical, mental or social well-being that you used to have but have now changed (for example, sleep, screen time, exercise, or seeing friends). Use 'used to', 'would' or 'could' at least twice, and check your partner's ideas with at least two question tags.

SPEAKING

My Well-Being Story

Prepare a two-minute talk describing a time when you felt stressed, unwell or out of balance, and explain what helped you feel better. Use natural intonation on statements, questions and any question tags you include.

WRITING

My Well-Being Journal

Write three short journal entries (one for a day focusing on physical health, one for mental/emotional health, and one for social health). Each entry should describe what you did that day and how it affected your well-being.

WRITING

A Blog Post: How I Keep My Well-Being in Balance

Write a blog post for other students explaining how physical, mental and social well-being are connected, based on a personal example, and give at least two practical tips for keeping them in balance.
