Present Perfect vs Present Perfect Progressive

1 · NOTICE

- I have lived in this flat since 2019.
- My grandmother has been living with us for six months now, and she loves it.
- We have already tidied the living room, so we can relax now.
- My brother has been cleaning his room all morning, but it still looks messy.

Which sentences focus on the result or completion of an action, and which focus on the duration of an ongoing activity? Which time expressions (since, for, already, all morning) go with each form?

2 · DISCOVER — A · COMPLETE THE RULE

Look at the Notice sentences again. Complete the rule with the words in the box.

have/has + past participle

have/has been + -ing

a finished action or result

how long an action has been in progress

1. For a completed action, especially with just/already/yet/ever/never, we use the Present Perfect: _____.
2. For an activity that started in the past and is still continuing, or continued until recently (often with 'for' or 'since'), we use the Present Perfect Progressive: _____.
3. The Present Perfect often highlights _____, while the Present Perfect Progressive often highlights _____.

B Build sentences

Use the cues to build true sentences. Choose the Present Perfect or the Present Perfect Progressive.

e.g.

I

live / since 2019

in this flat

I have lived in this flat since 2019.

1.

my grandmother

live with us / for six months

2. we already / tidy the living room
3. my brother clean his room / all morning
4. ? / you ever / share a bedroom with a sibling
5. how long / your family live in this neighbourhood

C Your turn

Write four sentences about your own family or home: one thing you have already done today, one thing you have never done, and one activity you have been doing for a while (use 'for' or 'since').

I have already...

I have never...

I have been ... for/since...

My family has lived here for/since...

RULE

The Present Perfect (have/has + past participle) describes a completed action or its result, connected to now (used with just, already, yet, ever, never, recently). The Present Perfect Progressive (have/has been + -ing) emphasises the DURATION of an action that started in the past and continues now, or continued until recently (often with for/since).

TR Present Perfect (have/has + fiilin 3. hali), geçmişte olmuş ve şu anla bağlantısı olan tamamlanmış bir eylemi ya da onun sonucunu anlatır (just, already, yet, ever, never, recently ile kullanılır). Present Perfect Progressive (have/has been + -ing) ise geçmişte başlayıp devam eden ya da yakın zamana kadar süren bir eylemin SÜRESİNE vurgu yapar (genellikle for/since ile).

When?

Use the Present Perfect for a completed action or an experience (e.g. household chores); use the Present Perfect Progressive to emphasise how long a family has lived somewhere or how long an activity has continued.

TR Ev işleri gibi tamamlanmış bir eylemden veya deneyimden bahsederken Present Perfect; bir ailenin ne kadar süredir bir yerde yaşadığını ya da bir eylemin ne kadar sürdüğünü vurgularken Present Perfect Progressive kullanılır.

Comparative and Superlative of Irregular Adjectives

1 · NOTICE

- Life in a shared flat can be worse than life alone when you have no privacy.
- Grandma says the biggest house isn't always the best home for a happy family.
- Our new neighbourhood is farther from the city centre than our old one.
- Of all my cousins, Elif has the least patience for noisy family dinners.

Which words are comparative (comparing two things) and which are superlative (comparing three or more)? Do these adjectives follow the normal -er/-est or more/most pattern?

2 · DISCOVER — A · COMPLETE THE RULE

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

good – better – best

bad – worse – worst

far – farther/further – farthest/furthest little – less – least

many/much – more – most

- The comparative and superlative forms of 'good' are _____.
- The comparative and superlative forms of 'bad' are _____.
- 'Far' has two possible pairs of forms: _____.
- 'Little' becomes _____ and 'many/much' becomes _____.

B Build sentences

Complete each sentence with the correct comparative or superlative form.

e.g. This flat is (good) ____ than our last one.

This flat is better than our last one.

1. Sharing chores is (good) ____ than arguing about them.

2. Of all the rooms in the house, the attic is the (bad) ____ in winter — it's freezing.

3. My new school is (far) ____ from home than my old one.

4. She has (little) ____ free time than her brother because she helps around the house more.

5. Of all my relatives, my uncle gives the (many) ____ advice about family problems!

C Your turn

Write three sentences comparing your home or family life using irregular comparatives/superlatives (better/worse, farther/further, less, most).

My home is better/worse than...

...has the least/most...

RULE

Some adjectives have irregular comparative and superlative forms: good-better-best, bad-worse-worst, far-farther/further-farthest/furthest, little-less-least, many/much-more-most. These do not take -er/-est or more/most — the whole word changes.

TR Bazı sıfatların karşılaştırma ve üstünlük halleri düzensizdir: good-better-best, bad-worse-worst, far-farther/further-farthest/furthest, little-less-least, many/much-more-most. Bu sıfatlara -er/-est eklenmez ya da more/most getirilmez; formları tamamen değişir.

When?

We use these irregular forms when comparing homes, family situations and relationships — for example, which house is better, or who has less patience.

TR Ev, aile ve komşuluk ilişkilerini karşılaştırırken (örneğin hangi ev daha iyi, kimin sabrı daha az) bu düzensiz biçimleri kullanırız.

| POSITIVE                                                                            | NEGATIVE                                                                                   | QUESTION                                                                        | SHORT ANSWERS                            |

My grandmother looks after herself very well for her age.

1. The twins made breakfast by ___ this morning.

2. I sometimes talk to ___ when I'm doing chores alone.

3. Did you and your cousins enjoy ___ at the family reunion?

4. My father taught ___ how to cook after my grandmother moved out.

5. The cat cleaned ___ in the sun all afternoon.

C Your turn

Write three true sentences about you or your family using reflexive pronouns (myself, yourself, himself/herself, ourselves, themselves).

I sometimes ... myself.

My ... taught ... himself/herself ...

We enjoyed ourselves when ...

RULE

Reflexive pronouns (myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves) are used when the subject and the object of a sentence are the same person or thing. 'By + reflexive pronoun' means 'alone, without help'.

TR Dönüşlü zamirler (myself, yourself, himself, herself, itself, ourselves, yourselves, themselves), cümlelerin öznesi ile nesnesi aynı kişi/şey olduğunda kullanılır. 'By + dönüşlü zamir' kalıbı 'yardımsız, tek başına' anlamına gelir.

When?

We use reflexive pronouns to describe an action someone does to themselves, or to say that someone does something alone/without help.

TR Bir kişinin kendine yaptığı bir eylemi, ya da bir şeyi tek başına/yardımsız yaptığını anlatırken dönüşlü zamir kullanılır.

Wh- Questions: How Long

1 · NOTICE

- How long have you lived in this house?
- How long has your family been renting this flat?
- How long did the family argument last night last?
- How long will you be staying with your grandparents this summer?

What tenses follow 'How long' in these questions? What kind of answer does 'How long' ask for?

2 · DISCOVER — A · COMPLETE THE RULE

Complete the rule with the words in the box.

a period of time or duration    Present Perfect (Simple/Progressive)    Past Simple will/going to for the future

1. 'How long' asks for _____ as an answer (e.g. two years, since June, an hour).
2. 'How long' is most often followed by the _____ to ask about something continuing up to now.
3. For a completed period in the past, 'How long' can be followed by the _____.
4. For a future duration, 'How long' can be followed by _____.

B Build sentences

Write the full 'How long' question for each situation.

e.g. Ask your friend how long her family has lived in their house.

How long has your family lived in your house?

1. Ask how long your neighbour has been renovating her kitchen.

2. Ask how long the family argument lasted yesterday.

3. Ask how long your cousins are going to stay with you this summer.

4. Ask how long your grandparents have been married.

5. Ask how long it usually takes your family to agree on household chores.

C Your turn

Write three 'How long' questions about your own home or family, and answer them (e.g. how long you've lived somewhere, how long a family tradition has continued).

How long have you...?

How long has your family...?

How long did...?

RULE

'How long' asks about duration. It is followed by the Present Perfect (Simple/Progressive) for something continuing up to now, the Past Simple for a completed period in the past, and will/going to for a future duration.

TR 'How long' süre sormak için kullanılır. Şu ana kadar devam eden bir durum için Present Perfect (Simple/Progressive), tamamlanmış bir geçmiş süre için Past Simple, gelecekteki bir süre için will/going to ile kullanılır.

When?

We use 'How long' to ask how long a family has lived somewhere, how long an argument lasted, or how long a visit will continue.

TR Ailenin bir evde ne kadar süredir yaşadığını, bir tartışmanın ne kadar sürdüğünü ya da bir ziyaretin ne kadar süreceğini sorarken 'How long' kullanırız.

1 Before you read

Make predictions before you read.

1. Look at the title. What different types of homes do you expect to read about?
2. What kind of home do you live in? How is it similar to or different from your neighbours' homes?

Homes Around the World

- 1 Step outside your own front door and you will find a huge variety of homes across the globe, each shaped by climate, geography and culture. In Mongolia, many nomadic families still live in a ger, a round, portable tent made of felt and wood that can be packed up and moved within a few hours when herders travel to new grazing land. In Hong Kong, by contrast, more than seven million people live in one of the most densely populated cities on Earth, and most families share small, efficient apartments stacked dozens of storeys high above narrow streets.
- 2 In parts of Southeast Asia and West Africa, stilt houses raise the living space above rivers, floodwater or simply the damp ground, keeping homes cooler and safer from pests. In the Netherlands, some families have chosen to live on the water itself, in houseboats moored along the canals — a practical answer to a small, flat country with limited land. Meanwhile, in the suburbs of many Western cities, detached houses with private gardens remain the dream for families who value space and privacy above all else.
- 3 These differences are rarely accidental. A home's shape, size and materials usually reflect what is available locally, how extended a family typically is, and how much space a culture expects each generation to share. Understanding housing diversity, then, is really a way of understanding how people everywhere adapt to their environment — and to each other.

Three Generations, One Roof

- 1 When Zeynep's grandparents moved in with her family two years ago, the house suddenly felt smaller — and louder. Zeynep, her parents, her younger brother, and now her grandparents all share one kitchen, one living room, and, most of the time, one opinion about how loudly the television should be played. 'At first, it was strange,' Zeynep admits. 'My grandmother wanted dinner at six, my parents preferred eight, and nobody could agree on the thermostat.'

- 2 Daily conflicts like these are common in multi-generational households, where different generations often have different habits, schedules and expectations about privacy. Zeynep's family found that the biggest arguments weren't really about dinner times or the television — they were about respect and personal space. Her parents felt that they had lost some control over their own home; her grandparents felt that their advice, built on decades of experience, was not always welcome.
- 3 Slowly, the family developed a few simple house rules: everyone gets one hour of quiet time in the evening, chores are divided fairly between the generations, and big decisions — from meals to holidays — are discussed together at a short Sunday meeting. 'It's not perfect,' says Zeynep, 'but we've learned to compromise, and honestly, having my grandparents here has been the best thing that's happened to our family. My brother and I have learned so much from them, and they don't feel lonely anymore.'

S1 Comparing Homes Around the World

In pairs, compare your own home with one of the housing types from Reading 1 (a ger, an apartment block, a stilt house or a houseboat). Talk about size, location, and what you like or dislike about each. Use at least one irregular comparative/superlative and one 'How long' question.

S2 A Day in My Multi-Generational Family

Prepare a two-minute talk describing a typical day in your own household (or an imaginary multi-generational household). Mention at least one small daily conflict and how the family solves it, and describe how your family stays connected to your neighbourhood or community.

W1 Housing Around the World: A Comparison

Write a short report (150–180 words) comparing two different types of housing from around the world (for example, from Reading 1, or your own research). Describe size, materials, location, and typical family life in each, and give your own opinion about which you would prefer.

CHECKLIST

- ☐ Compares at least two types of housing
- ☐ Uses at least one irregular comparative/superlative
- ☐ Uses the Present Perfect where appropriate
- ☐ Gives a personal opinion in the conclusion
