How We Study in Room 12

Before you read

- Do you prefer pair work or group work?

In Room 12, every lesson follows the same simple routine. First, the teacher writes the day's instructions on the whiteboard. Students take out their notebooks and check the timetable to see which subject comes next.

During the lesson, students often work in pairs or in small groups. "Take turns speaking," the teacher often reminds them, "and don't interrupt your partner." The class monitor helps by handing out worksheets and collecting notebooks at the end.

At the end of each week, there is a short quiz to check what students remember. "Revise your notes every evening," the teacher advises, "and you won't need to worry about the quiz."

1. What does the teacher write on the whiteboard?

- a. Homework grades
- b. The day's instructions
- c. Student names
- d. The timetable

2. The class monitor hands out _____ and collects notebooks.

3. There is a quiz every day. — True / False

After you read

- Describe your own classroom routine in two sentences.

First Day InstructionsBefore you listen
