

Reading

Reading

Food Around the World

Before you read

- What is your favourite traditional dish?

Every continent has its own delicious cuisine. In Asia, rice is a staple food, and many dishes use spicy ingredients like chilli and ginger. In Europe, bread and cheese are common on the table.

In Türkiye, traditional cuisine includes dishes with olive oil, yoghurt, and fresh vegetables from market stalls. Many families shop at a local grocery store or an open-air market for fresh ingredients rather than buying everything at a supermarket.

Nowadays, there isn't always a clear line between cuisines — many restaurants serve fusion food, mixing ingredients and cooking styles from different nationalities and continents.

1. What is a staple food in Asia?

- a. Bread
- b. Cheese
- c. Rice
- d. Olive oil

2. Turkish cuisine uses a lot of _____ oil.

3. Fusion food mixes ingredients from different cuisines. — True / False

After you read

- What ingredients are common in your family's cooking?

