2. Guess: what three jobs might the writer's family members have?

My Family, Different Jobs

- 1 Hi, everyone! My name is Deniz, and today I want to tell you about the different jobs in my family. We're not a family of teachers or doctors — we all do very different things!
- 2 My mother is a pharmacist, and she works at a small pharmacy in the town centre. Every day, she checks medicine and serves customers who need advice. She doesn't work on Sundays, so that's our family day together.
- 3 My father is an electrician. He doesn't work in an office — he visits different houses and fixes the lights and wires. His work routine changes every day, because every house has a different problem!
- 4 My aunt works as a bank clerk at a branch in the city centre. She serves customers, checks their information, and helps them with their money. My uncle, on the other hand, works at a big shopping centre nearby, where he's a security guard. He checks IDs and makes sure everyone is safe.
- 5 My cousin is still a student, but she works as a shop assistant at the weekend. She serves customers in a small clothes shop and says she loves talking to people all day.
- 6 Every family has different jobs and different work routines, but we all sit down together on Sunday and talk about our week. I think that's the best part!

1. What do you think happens on a 'Career Day' at a school?

2. Guess two jobs that students might present on Career Day.

Career Day at Our School

- 1 Every autumn, our school organises a Career Day, and it's always one of the most interesting days of the year. Each student chooses one family member's job and prepares a short poster and presentation about it.
- 2 This year, I chose my aunt's job. She's a flight attendant, so I explained that she works on planes and travels to different cities every week. I made a poster with a photo of an airport and some facts about her work routine.
- 3 My classmate Ela presented her father's job. He's a mechanic, and he works in a garage near our neighbourhood. Ela explained that he fixes cars every day and sometimes works late in the evening when there's a lot of work.
- 4 Another classmate, Kerem, talked about his mother, who works as an accountant in an office in the city centre. He said she doesn't work with cars or customers — she works with numbers and computers all day.
- 5 In the afternoon, each student gave a short presentation and answered questions like 'Does your family member work at the weekend?' and 'What does a typical work day look like for them?' It was a great chance to practise speaking and learn about different jobs.
- 6 At the end of the day, our teacher said that Career Day helps us understand that every job is important, whether it's fixing cars, serving customers, or helping people with their money.
