S1 Then and Now: Describing a Habitat

Pairs · 10–15 dk

Choose a habitat (real or invented, for creative-speaking purposes) and describe how it was in the past and what it is like now, using was/were and there was/there were.

Fifty years ago, there was/were...

This area was/wasn't...

Today, there is/isn't...

Was there...? — Yes, there was. / No, there wasn't.

1. In pairs, choose a habitat: a forest, a grassland, an ocean or a desert.
2. Think of three things that were true about it in the past.
3. Think of how it has changed today.
4. Take turns describing your habitat's past and present to your partner.
5. Share one interesting fact with the whole class.

S2 What Should We Do? — A Wildlife Roundtable

Groups of 4 · 15–20 dk

In small groups, discuss what should and shouldn't be done to protect an endangered animal of your choice, then agree on three pieces of advice to share with the class.

I think we should...

People shouldn't...

Governments should...

Should we...? — Yes, I think so. / No, I don't think so.

1. In groups, choose one endangered animal to discuss.
2. Each student suggests one piece of advice using 'should' or 'shouldn't'.
3. Discuss and agree on the group's three best pieces of advice.
4. Prepare a short spokesperson summary for the class.
5. Present your group's advice to the class.

W1 An Endangered Animal Fact File

60-80 words

Write a short fact file about an endangered animal (real or invented, for creative-writing purposes). Include its habitat, what it was like in the past, and at least two things people should do to protect it.

PLAN

1. Choose a title for your fact file, e.g. 'All About the Snow Leopard'.
2. Note the animal's habitat and one fact about it in the past.
3. List two or three threats it faces.
4. Add two sentences of advice using 'should'.
5. Check your grammar and punctuation.
