Guess the Planet

Pairs, then whole class · 10-12 dk

With a partner, take turns giving clues about a planet (size, distance from the Sun, temperature, moons) while your partner guesses which planet it is.

Useful language: This planet is..., It orbits the Sun in..., If you visit this planet, you will..., Is it ... ?

1. Choose a planet and write 3 clues about it (without naming it).
2. Give your first clue to your partner.
3. Your partner guesses the planet; if they are wrong, give another clue.
4. Swap roles and repeat with a different planet.
5. Play again with 2 more planets each.

Mission to Mars: Astronaut Interview

Pairs · 10-12 dk

One of you is a reporter and one is an astronaut who has just returned from a mission to Mars. Role-play a short interview about the mission, using the First Conditional to talk about future missions.

Useful language: What will happen if...?, Unless we..., we won't..., If we go back to Mars, we will..., It was...

1. Decide who is the reporter and who is the astronaut.
2. The astronaut thinks of 3 facts about the Mars mission (what they saw, found, or did).
3. The reporter prepares 3 questions, including at least one with if/unless.
4. Act out the interview.
5. Swap roles and do it again for a different planet.

Writing

Planet Fact File

60-80 words

Choose one planet and write a short fact file about it. Include its distance from the Sun, its size, its temperature, and one Zero Conditional fact about it.

Plan:

1. Choose your planet and research 4 key facts.
2. Organise your facts: distance, size, temperature, moons.
3. Write one Zero Conditional sentence about your planet.
4. Check your grammar and punctuation.

Checklist:

- ☐ I included the planet's distance from the Sun.
- ☐ I included its size and temperature.
- ☐ I used at least one Zero Conditional sentence.
- ☐ I checked my spelling and capital letters.

My Interplanetary Explorer Script

70-100 words

Write a short script (6-8 lines) for your solar system project. Create a character — an astronaut, astronomer or scientist — who describes a planet they are exploring. Use at least one First Conditional sentence with if or unless.

Plan:

1. Choose your character and which planet they are exploring.
2. Decide what they discover or explain about the planet.
3. Write 6-8 lines of script, including a First Conditional sentence.
4. Read it aloud with a partner and time it.

Checklist:

- ☐ I have a clear character and planet.
- ☐ I used at least one First Conditional sentence with if or unless.
- ☐ My script has 6-8 lines and makes sense.
- ☐ I practised reading it aloud.
