Relative Clauses — Defining & Non-defining

B2 düzeyinde relative clauses iki türe ayrılır: defining (tanımlayan — virgülsüz) ve non-defining (ek bilgi veren — virgüllü). Bu ayrım hem anlam hem de noktalama açısından kritiktir.

Defining vs Non-defining

Tür	Kural	Örnek	Anlam
Defining	Virgül yok · that kullanılabilir	The man who called was rude.	Hangi adam? — arayan adam
Non-defining	Virgüllü · that KULLANILMAZ	My father, who is 60, loves jazz.	Ek bilgi — babam zaten bilinen biri

Zamir seçimi

Zamir	Kullanım	Defining	Non-defining
who	kişiler	✓	✓
which	nesneler/hayvanlar	✓	✓
that	kişi ve nesneler	✓	✗
whose	aitlik	✓	✓
where	yerler	✓	✓
when	zamanlar	✓	✓

COMMON MISTAKE — Non-defining'de that yasak!

✗ ~~My sister, that lives in London, is a chef.~~

✓ My sister, who lives in London, is a chef.

✗ ~~The Eiffel Tower, that was built in 1889, is in Paris.~~

✓ The Eiffel Tower, which was built in 1889, is in Paris.

TIP — Preposition + which/whom

Resmi yazıda preposition relative pronoun'dan önce gelir:

Informal: The company (that) I work for is expanding.

Formal: The company for which I work is expanding.

Informal: The person (who) I spoke to was helpful.

Formal: The person to whom I spoke was helpful.

The Right to Be Forgotten

In May 2014, the Court of Justice of the European Union made a landmark ruling which changed internet privacy law forever. Mario Costeja González, whose name appeared in old newspaper articles that linked him to debt problems, had requested that Google remove the search links.

The court ruled that individuals who believe their outdated data harms their privacy have the right to request its removal. Companies that fail to comply may face significant fines.

This ruling, which only applies within the EU, has been deeply controversial. Journalists, whose work depends on public access to historical information, argued it threatened press freedom. Historians expressed concern about a world where inconvenient facts could simply be deleted.

A system whereby anyone could request the erasure of legally published information was described by critics as "digital amnesia." The company whose search results triggered the original case — Google — lost.

The debate continues: the right to privacy versus the right to information — two fundamental values that cannot always coexist. The year when this ruling was made marked a turning point in how the internet, which had long operated as an unlimited archive, was forced to face questions of accountability.

Writing — örnek cevaplar

Görev 1 — Relative clause alıştırması

The law that I find most important is the right to a fair trial, which is protected in most democratic constitutions. My professor, who has worked in criminal law for thirty years, believes access to justice is the foundation of a functioning society. The regulation which was introduced in 2020, and which has already prevented dozens of wrongful convictions, must be strengthened further.

Görev 2 — Hukuk ve toplum

The right to education is a fundamental principle which every child deserves, regardless of background. Those whose families cannot afford schooling are systematically denied opportunities. It is a right which must be enforced globally, not just in wealthy nations. The organisations that campaign for this cause deserve far greater support.
