In which sentences does the phrasal verb need an object (something after it), and in which sentences does it stand alone?

2 · DISCOVER — A · COMPLETE THE RULE

Look at the Notice sentences again. Complete the rule with the words in the box.

needs an object doesn't need an object can be separated

1. A transitive phrasal verb (like take up, break in) _____.
2. An intransitive phrasal verb (like show off, settle down) _____.
3. Some transitive phrasal verbs, like 'take up a hobby' / 'take a hobby up', _____.

B Build sentences

Use the cues to build true sentences with the correct phrasal verb.

e.g. she take up / surfing last summer

She took up surfing last summer.

1. the coach set up / a new training camp for young wrestlers

2. I always / check out / the weather forecast before I go paragliding

3. he never / show off even after winning

4. the athletes get along / well even though they are rivals

5. ? / you ever / give up / a sport because it was too dangerous

Write four sentences about sports you or someone you know has taken up, given up, shown off in, or how people get along in a team.

I once took up...

I would never give up...

My friend always shows off when...

Our team gets along...

RULE

Transitive phrasal verbs need an object (take up a sport, set up a camp, check out the equipment, give up a hobby, break in new boots); some can be separated (take a hobby up). Intransitive phrasal verbs are used without an object (show off, settle down, get along, give in, catch on).

TR Geçişli (transitive) phrasal verb'ler bir nesneye ihtiyaç duyar (take up a sport, set up a camp, check out the equipment, give up a hobby, break in new boots). Bazıları ayrılabilir (take a hobby up). Geçişsiz (intransitive) phrasal verb'ler ise nesne almadan tek başına kullanılır (show off, settle down, get along, give in, catch on).

When?

We use these phrasal verbs to talk about starting or stopping a sport or hobby, checking equipment, or describing how teammates behave.

TR Bir sporu ya da hobiye anlatırken, ekipmanı incelerken ya da bir takım arkadaşlığını tarif ederken bu phrasal verb'leri kullanırız.

POSITIVE	NEGATIVE	QUESTION	SHORT ANSWERS
She took up climbing last year.	They didn't give up, even in the storm.	Did you ever take up a dangerous sport?	Yes, I did. / No, I never did.
He always shows off after a win.	He doesn't get along with every teammate.	Does the team get along well?	Yes, they do. / No, not really.

X WRONG	✓ RIGHT	WHY?
She took up it two years ago.	She took it up two years ago.	When the object is a pronoun (it, him, her), a separable phrasal verb must be split. TR Nesne bir zamir (it, him, her) olduğunda, ayrılabilir phrasal verb'ler mutlaka ayrılmalıdır.
He showed off his new board to everyone.	He showed off to everyone with his new board. / He showed off in front of everyone.	'Show off' is intransitive; it doesn't take a direct object — use it with a preposition like 'to' or 'in front of'. TR 'Show off' geçişsizdir; doğrudan nesne almaz, 'to/in front of' gibi bir edatla kullanılır.
The wrestler didn't give in the match.	The wrestler didn't give in during the match.	'Give in' is intransitive and takes no direct object; use a preposition like 'during' or 'to' instead. TR 'Give in' geçişsizdir, doğrudan nesne almaz; 'during/to' gibi edatlarla kullanılır.

Make predictions before you read.

1. Look at the title. What do you think 'born for the rush' means?
2. Do you know anyone who loves risky or exciting activities? What are they like?

Born for the Rush?

- 1 Why do some people happily jump out of aeroplanes or ride down a mountain on a board, while others would never dream of it? Decades ago, a psychologist proposed that certain people are simply wired to seek out risk. He called them 'Type T' individuals — the 'T' standing for thrill. According to his theory, these people don't just tolerate danger; they actively look for it.
- 2 Scientists who study this idea point to biology as one possible explanation. Type T brains may release dopamine, the chemical linked to pleasure, more strongly during risky activities than an average person's brain does. This could explain why a thrill-seeker's heart races with excitement, not fear, the moment a parachute opens.
- 3 Critics warn against judging every risk-taker as reckless, however. Many so-called Type T people take up creative or entrepreneurial paths instead of dangerous sports, channelling the same hunger for novelty into painting, invention or starting a business. Whether on a cliff edge or in a studio, it seems the same restless curiosity can drive very different kinds of lives.

- According to the text, what chemical might explain a thrill-seeker's excitement?
 - adrenaline only
 - dopamine
 - stamina
- According to the text, all Type T people become extreme athletes. ☐ Correct ☐ Incorrect
- The final paragraph suggests that the same restless curiosity can drive people toward risky sports or toward _____ paths.

3 After you read*Write short answers. Then compare with a partner.*

- Can you think of another non-sporting way someone might channel a love of risk?

1 Before you read*Make predictions before you read.*

- What do you already know about traditional Turkish sports?

- What do you think the name 'Kırkpınar' might mean?

Oil, Honour and Forty Springs

- Every July, thousands of spectators travel to Edirne to watch one of the oldest sporting events in the world. Wrestlers, known as pehlivan, cover their bodies in olive oil and compete on open grass in leather trousers called a kispet. The tournament, known as Kırkpınar, has been held almost every year since 1924, making it a proud symbol of Turkish sporting heritage.

- 2 The event's name comes from an old legend. Two brothers are said to have wrestled each other for so long, and so evenly matched, that neither could win — until, exhausted, they both collapsed and died on the spot. According to the story, forty springs later bubbled up from the ground where they fell, giving the region its name: Kirkpınar, or 'Forty Springs'.
- 3 Beyond the oil and the crowds, Kirkpınar is built on respect. Wrestlers bow to their opponents before a match, and the strongest competitor, the başpehlivan, is expected to show humility, not arrogance. Similar values appear in other traditional Turkish sports, such as the horseback javelin game, where courage and fair play matter as much as winning.
