A Day at Our International School

Before you read

- Look at the title and the photo. What do you think happens first at this school?
- Guess: what time do you think the school day starts?

My name is Mert and I'm a Year 10 student at an international school in İzmir. Our school day starts at 8:30, so I have to be punctual every morning. The caretaker, Mr Demir, opens the gate at 7:30, and by 8:25 the corridor is full of students.

At 8:30, we go to the assembly. The headteacher, Ms Whitfield, talks about the news of the week and important events, like sports day or a national day celebration. After assembly, we go to our classrooms.

We must wear a uniform, and we mustn't use our phones during lessons. If we have a problem, we can talk to the school counsellor, Mrs Aydoğan. She is very kind and always has time for students.

At break time, we go to the canteen or the library. The librarian, Mr Costa, helps us find books for our projects. We have to hand in our homework before 4 pm, so I usually work in the library after lessons.

I like my school because everyone is respectful, and there is always something interesting happening — a drama club, a football match, or a celebration for a national day!

Republic Day at School

Before you read

- What date is Republic Day (Cumhuriyet Bayramı) in Türkiye?
- What do schools usually do to celebrate a national day? Guess two activities.

Every year on the 29th of October, our school celebrates Republic Day. It is one of the most important national days in Türkiye, so we must prepare for it carefully.

In the morning, all students and teachers join a special assembly. We sing the national anthem, and the headteacher gives a short speech about the history of the day.

After the assembly, there is a school parade in the yard. Some students carry flags, and the drama club performs a short play about the celebration. Everyone claps for the performers!

In the afternoon, we don't have normal lessons. Instead, classes prepare posters and presentations about the day. My class made a poster with photos and facts, and we have to present it to the other students.

At the end of the day, there is a small prize-giving ceremony for the best posters. It's a busy day, but it's also one of my favourite days at school.
