Our Classroom Rules

Before you read

- Look at the title. What classroom rules do you think this text will mention?
- Guess: who usually gives instructions in the classroom?

My name is Elif and I'm in Year 10. Every morning, our teacher checks the timetable and tells us what we're going to study. There is a big whiteboard at the front of our classroom, and our teacher writes the plan for the lesson on it.

In our classroom, we must listen carefully to the teacher's instructions. If we don't understand something, we can ask a question — we just have to raise our hand first. We mustn't interrupt when someone else is speaking.

There are five rows of desks in our classroom, and there is a classroom monitor who helps the teacher every week. This week, it's my turn to be the monitor, so I hand out the worksheets and collect the homework.

For most activities, we work with a partner or in small groups. We have to cooperate and take turns, because everyone must share ideas and materials. Sometimes the teacher says 'Shall we work in pairs today?' and everyone gets excited.

I like our classroom because the rules are clear and fair. Don't run, don't shout, and always listen — these are simple instructions, but they help everyone learn together.

1. What is the text mainly about?
 - a. Elif's opinion about her teacher
 - b. The rules and routines in Elif's classroom
 - c. How to become a classroom monitor
2. What does the teacher write on the whiteboard?
 - a. The homework answers
 - b. The plan for the lesson
 - c. The class timetable for the whole year
3. What must students do before they ask a question?
 - a. Wait for break time
 - b. Raise their hand
 - c. Talk to a partner first
4. In paragraph 3, 'it's my turn' refers to Elif's turn to be...
 - a. the teacher
 - b. the classroom monitor
 - c. the partner
5. Students in Elif's classroom always work alone. — True / False

6. Why does Elif like her classroom?

- AbOnlineEnglish Upper Secondary — Lise Hazırlık — Complete Theme · Orijinal içerik, TYMM müfredatıyla uyumlu.
- a. Because there are no rules
 - b. Because the rules are clear and fair, and everyone learns together
 - c. Because she is always the monitor

After you read

- What classroom jobs (like classroom monitor) does your own class have? Write two sentences.
- Compare Elif's classroom rules with your own class rules. Find one similarity and one difference.

Planning Our Ideal Classroom

Before you read

- What do you think makes a classroom a good place to study?
- Guess: what jobs or roles could students have in an ideal classroom?

For our project this term, our class had to design an ideal classroom with ideal activities. First, we had a class discussion: 'Shall we choose our own roles, or shall the teacher choose them?' In the end, we voted, and everyone chose a role.

In our ideal classroom, there is a clear timetable on the wall, and there are enough chairs and books for every student. There isn't a lot of noise, because everyone respects the classroom rules.

Every student has a responsibility. There is a classroom monitor who checks the whiteboard is clean, a materials manager who gives out worksheets, and a timekeeper who watches the clock during group activities.

We must cooperate and take turns in every activity. Students mustn't interrupt each other, and everyone can ask for help without feeling embarrassed. We also revise new vocabulary together at the end of each lesson.

For the writing task, each group wrote a short script about their ideal roles and routines. Next, we're going to act out these roles in class and present our ideal classroom to the other students.

1. What is the text mainly about?

- a. A test students take at school
- b. Planning roles and rules for an ideal classroom
- c. A new whiteboard for the classroom

2. How did the class choose their roles?

- a. The teacher chose for them
- b. They voted after a discussion
- c. They didn't choose roles at all

3. What does the materials manager do?

- a. Checks the whiteboard is clean
- b. Gives out worksheets
- c. Watches the clock

4. What do students do at the end of each lesson?

- a. Clean the classroom
- b. Revise new vocabulary together
- c. Write a test

5. In this ideal classroom, students can interrupt each other freely. — True / False

AbOnlinEnglish Upper Secondary — Lise Hazırlık — Complete Theme · Orijinal içerik, TYMM müfredatıyla uyumlu.

6. What will the class do after writing their scripts?

- a. Start a new project
- b. Act out their roles and present them
- c. Forget about the project

After you read

- List two roles you would like to have in your own ideal classroom.
- Design one classroom rule you think would make your class better. Write it as a sentence.

5. Mert and Zeynep decide to write the script alone, separately. — True / False

Find Someone Who... (Classroom Roles)

Whole class, mingling · 10-12 dk

Walk around the class and ask your classmates questions with Can you...?, Do you have to...? and Must you...? to find someone who matches each sentence about classroom roles and rules. Write their name next to the sentence.

Useful language: Do you have to raise your hand before you speak?, Can you work well with a partner?, Must you always take turns in group work?, Yes, I do. / No, I don't. / Yes, I can. / No, I can't.

1. Look at your worksheet: 6 sentences about classroom roles and rules (e.g. '...has been a classroom monitor').
2. Stand up and ask a classmate a question to check if the sentence is true for them.
3. If it's true, write their name. If not, ask another classmate.
4. Try to find a different name for each sentence.
5. Sit down and share two interesting answers with the class.

Our Ideal Classroom — Role-Play

Groups of 3-4 · 10-12 dk

In your group, act out a short scene from your 'ideal classroom' project. Each student plays a role (e.g. classroom monitor, timekeeper, teacher) and gives at least one instruction or suggestion.

Useful language: Shall we start the activity now?, You must .../You mustn't ..., Can I..., please?, Let's take turns.

1. Decide on your roles and where the scene happens.
2. Decide what activity your ideal classroom is doing (e.g. a group project, a discussion).
3. Write 1-2 lines for each role using this theme's grammar.
4. Rehearse your scene once as a group.
5. Perform your scene for another group.

Writing

My Ideal Classroom Rules

60-80 words
